The facts are that I went to work on the Deseret News as 'devil" in the early part of May, 1851; assisted in moving the press and material from the small adobe house, which stood just east of the old Deseret News building, where the "News" was first printed, to the up-stairs room in the northeast corner of the Council house. At the time that I went into the office Horace K. Whitney was the compositor, Brigham H. Young did the press work, and Joseph Caine rorlled for him (acting devil), Thos. Bullock was proof reader. In the same year B. H. Young quit the work and James Boud was employed. In the fall of that year A. C. Brower came into the office. Soon after this the office was removed to the second story of the old Descret News building. Wm. M. Cowley be-came an apprentice after it was removed from the Council house the first time.

He lived in a house in the middle of the lot a little south and west of the Council house. Elder Joseph Caine, who had lately returned from California, seemed to be interested in the business department of the paper. His office was in a small shed-roofed building at the south side of the Council house, where he held forth as postmaster or as assistant postmaster.

SCHOOL BOOK PUZZLE. Medal for the Man Who Can Tell Whether Prang is In or Out.

The meeting of the board of education last evening was a parliamentary jumble, and the members of that august body are undecided yet as to just what they did. It was all over the adoption of the Prang system of drawing. It will be remembered that when the vote was taken at the former meeting eliminating the Prang system, it is possible that some surprises may Bamberger gave notice that he would move last evening for a reconsideration of the vote. Later the report of the committee of the whole, with the Prang system eliminated, was adopted. Bamberger was not present last evening, however, and Mr. Geoghegan made the motion to reconsider the vote eliminating the Prang system, and the motion prevailed. Mr. Geoghegan voting against his own motion.

This led the opponents of the Prang system to believe that it had been adopted, but parliamentarians say that this is not so. They say that this only becaught the avertion before the house.

Mr. Moyle took this stand. He moved Mr. Møyle took this stand. He moved that the system be eliminated. Yound left the room. Glauque raised the point of order that there wasn't a quorum present, but it was held that the roll call showed six members present, and a vote was ordered on Moyle's motion to eliminate the Prang system. Glauque lest the room. Upon suggestion of Moyle, President Newman ordered Young and Glauque excused, and the vote stood recorded as follows: Years, Branting, Moyle, Geoghegan and Newman-4; excused from voting by the president. Young, Glauque-2; absent, Walker, Bamberger, Critchlow and Nelden-4. President Newman held that there was a quorum and that the Prang system had been eliminated. Giauque atempted to appeal from this ruling, but there was no second and Delay Between Salt Palace Events Hurts the Game.

CHAPMAN WAS THE WINNER

Samuelson Also Ran Away from Pedlar Palmer of Australia, a Crack Rider.

Probably the most fatal setback or drawback that may be given to sport of any kind is delay in pulling off events. At the Salt palace saucer last night a very beautiful start on this downward course was made, for there were between the events some of the most brilliant waits that have ever been known to grace the doings of a Rip Van Winkle management. There should be a sudden turn made somewhere or the game of bicycle racing will be badly injured-at least at the Salt Palace

Samuelson won the Australian pursuit race, defeating Palmer, the crack rider of such races. It was exciting and inspired much enthusiasm in the Hopper and Redman won the two mile amateur tandem race in a hot finish, retaining the lead after having once secured it. In what was given out to be the big event of the meet, the 10-mile motor tace, Chapman's handicap lead was too great for Oldfield to overcome and the local lad won rather easily. This is the summary of all the events: Australian pursuit race, professional Samuelson first, Palmer second, Oldfield third, Hofman fourth. Distance, 3½ miles less 55 yards. Time—7:32 2-5.

Two mile amateur tandem, handicap—Won by Redman and Hopper, Grames and Angell second, Herman and Elwood third. Time-4:12.

Ten-mile motor match race between Chapman and Oldfield-Won by Chap-man. Time-16:21 3-5. Time by miles 1:42 2-5, 1:41, 1:39, 1:36, 1:35, 1:41, 1:39, 1:40, 1:41, 1:27 3-5.

CHANCE FOR BURNS. Big Pugilist Can Get a Match Any Time He Feels Like It.

The attention of Jummy Burns, or his manager for him, was respectfully di-rected, drawn, pointed, guided to, and otherwise juxtaposed with, the fact that there is one, Unknown by name, who is not only willing but desirous of meeting the big Irishman in an en-deavor to achieve fistic distinction and advantage, limiting the duration of such a contest to 20 rounds of argument, the debate to be strenuous and exceedingly entertaining. For further particulars Mr. Burns

For further particulars Mr. Burns was referred to Charlie Lange, who has the interests of the said Unknown tucked away in his vest pocket, and who is simply aching to accommodate the big boxer, who has for a long time been looking for and unable to find a foeman worthy of his mits. "You can state for me that I will accept Lange's defi, and that I don't know who his Unknown is and do not care, as they all look alike to me. I will cover any reasonable bet Lange wants to make, and will name July 3 as a date suitable to me. I am always in good shape and need little training for this fight. I had intended to lay off until fall, but as this man has come forward, I am willing to meet him."

Heavy Track at Chicago.

Chicago, June 21.—Thirteen horses are entered to start in today's American Derby, and it is likely that one or tow others will be added to the list this morning, making one of the largest fields ever seen in the race. The practical assurance of a heavy track may be responsible for the stating of several horses whose owners think they might have a chance in this kind of going, which they would not have under other conditions. Owners do not have to make their final declarations until 10 o'clock this morning, and be sprung at the last moment.

SCARED BY A DOG. Robbers Leave Uncompleted Job at the Wasatch Drug Store.

But for the barking of a watchfu dog at midnight last night, the Wasatch drug store, on the corner of Third East and Second South streets, would have been burglarized. The burglars had filed the lock from the door and had the door pried open when the dog scared them away.

W. H. Woodring, who sleeps in the store, was awakened shortly after midnight by the short, sharp barking of his dog, which also stays in the store the research with a store that the research was a way to the store that the research was a stay in the store that the research was a stay in the store that the research was a stay in the store that the research was a stay in the store that th at night. He rose quickly, and with a gun made his way to the door. Two men were seen running up the street about a block away, passing soon out of view.

The matter was reported to the police.

PEOPLE WHO ARE PASSING

rado mining camps are gone by," remarked Mayor Crane, of Cripple Creek, at the White House today, "and there is no excuse whatever for packing a gun anywhere in the state. Why, in Cripple Creek, only policemen are permitted to carry arms, and only the sheriff and his officers are allowed to go armed when about to serve warrants. When a man is caught with a gun on him, the weapon becomes the property of the policeman making the arrest, and the man is fined $25, so there is very little of that sort of thing in Cripple." When asked what he thought of the probable metallic output in the district for the year, Mayor Crane believed it would exceed last year's output by something over $1, 600,000, "There has been strict watch kept over ore thieving," he also remarked, "but it continues in small ways." Mayor Crane mentioned one rewho, when questioned about it, said cent instance where three men in the they had heard nothing at all of the Independence mine found a pay streak of gold, and at odd moments during lunch hour and for a few moments before going off shift, scraped out little pieces of the rich ore until there was a ckful hid away. Then this was smuggled out of the mine in a dump car, and the man pushing the car was given $10 for his share in the transaction. The sack went over the dump with the tallings, and was quickly picked up by one of the three conspirators who took it vided among them. One man took his share to a Cripple Creek assayer and was given $28 for it. A second said he could do better than that, and went over to Victor where an assayer there allowed him $54; and the third man believing he could do even better, went to Denver, and sold his swag to a Denver assayer who paid him over $200. "So you will see" remarked his honor, "that the assayers in the mining camps are on the make. They are the fellows that ought to be picked up and run in; but they cover up their tracks so that you can't catch them. When an ore thief sells his plunder to an assayer. thief sells his plunder to an assayer, the latter at once grinds it up, and when once it is powder how are you going to tell what mine it came from?"

Past Grand Chancellor Stoney, of the Knights of Pythias, is stopping at the White house from Provo. He says White house from Provo. He says Provo is growing steadily, and that the long talked of boulevard from the city to the lake shore is being built, so that its completion is merely the matter of a short time. When it is finished, a fine resort will be built at the lake shore, and Mr. Stoney believes that the former boating interest will be revived, particularly as the old beats are still in existence, and he thinks they can be put into condition without much expense. Utah lake is a very good rowing ground.

Judge Hugh O'Neill of Chicago, the orator of the All Hallows commence-ment, is spending a few days looking around in this city, and enjoying him-self. He was here a year ago, and is pleased to note the improvements that have been made in that time. The judge is regarded as one of the most talented members of the Chicago bas,
